

Application Developer

Job Description

“MWETANA”, from the via tribe means we are going forward. Our goal is to help move our clients forward using best practices in the technology marketplace. MWETANA mission is to aid businesses in planning, development and management of mission and business critical solutions to achieve a competitive advantage through the use of technology. Our vision is to serve as a one stop shop for all ICT Services & Solutions.

With over Fifty (50) man-years of proven expertise in the information technology arena, MWETANA Consulting and Technology Group (MWETANA) is committed to bringing innovative and comprehensive technology services to public and private sector enterprises.

Our principals and associates have at the core of our business integrity and competence in all aspects of our work. We aid our clients in the planning, development and management of mission and business critical solutions to achieve a competitive advantage through the use of technology.

Job Responsibilities:

The Application Developer is an entry/middle level position that requires innovative, dedicated, hardworking and willing to learn person. The Application Developer will be responsible for the following but not limited to:

1. Work on a project team to develop custom software for our small to medium-sized business customers.
2. Participate in full development lifecycle - given system requirements, develop end-to-end solutions, including: development, testing, deployment and support.
3. Develop front-end interfaces, using modern web standards with a focus on usability and access from multiple platforms and devices
4. Develop back-end server side components, including configuration and deployment on server platforms.
5. Given target dates and scope of work, ability to manage your workload to meet the goals provided
6. Debugging & Troubleshooting
7. Optimize and Improve existing systems through ongoing enhancement projects.
8. Participate in requirement gathering
9. Write requirement gathering report
10. Prepare questionnaire for software projects
11. Create, edit and delete email accounts for designated clients
12. Participate in the conceptualization of web applications
13. Providing suggestions to the development team during the development stage of product to meet the client's business needs
14. Documenting the acquired results of analysis and workflows as well as obtaining sign-off from the appropriate client

15. Document software defects and report defects to software developers as well as monitor bug resolution efforts and track successes.
16. Proficient developed client application and be willing to prepare training materials and to provide end-user training
17. Provide first level application support to client
18. Test application and report test results to senior staff and be willing to demonstrate scenario
19. Install, configure and manage application installed at clients location
20. Updating of client website using various web editing tool or platform
21. Evaluate and identify new technologies for implementation
22. Any other tasks as may be assigned

Minimum Requirements

- Knowledge in Computer Science, Information Systems, or related field.
- Excellent communications and analytical skills.
- Demonstrated working knowledge of Object-Oriented Design/Analysis and web development/architectural methodologies.
- Education/Experience in any of the following programming languages: C#, ASP.net, SQL, PHP, .Net, AJAX, JavaScript, XML, HTML, C++.
- Position requires the ability to analyze, test, and propose solutions to problems in operational software.
- Strong interpersonal communication, influencing & relationship building skills.
- Creative thinking, solution provider, result oriented, team player

How to Apply

Human Resources
MWETANA Consulting & Technology Group
16 McDonald Street, LAUVICOM House
Monrovia, Liberia
jobs@mwetana.com.lr

Deadline: February 27th, 2018