- President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf has lauded the United Nations Mission in Liberia (UNMIL), its gallant men and women, bilateral partners for giving their best as well as all those who made invaluable contributions to Liberia's peace and stability especially the members of the justice, security and rule of law sector. The President spoke Friday, July 1, at the Monrovia City, during program marking the ceremonial turnover of responsibilities of state security to the Government of Liberia. The Liberian leader described the event as a testimony to the enormous work and progress made by her Government since 2006 to ensure a stable and peaceful country; a country where all can live and move freely without harassment; a country where freedom of the press and of the media is guaranteed; a country that provides opportunities for all to contribute to its development.
