

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S DAILY ACTIVITIES – Thursday, October 15, 2015

- President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf has assured the visually impaired of her continued support aimed at giving meaning to their lives because as citizens they too have rights. She made the comments when a visually impaired graduate, Mr. Naoh Zawu Gibson, who was accompanied by his two sisters paid her a courtesy call to commend and personally extend to her thanks and appreciation for funding his successful completion of the Cuttington University in Suakoko, Bong County.

Thirty-six year old Naoh Gibson received a degree in Public Administration. He also praised President Sirleaf for equally extending her goodwill and humanitarian gesture to his comrades namely: Emary Jessie who did his major in Public Administration & minor in Education; James Y. Togba, major in Public Administration & minor in Sociology; Leon T. Kegbeh, major in Public Administration & minor in Sociology (currently employed at NASSCORP); Korto G. Kollie, major in Agriculture; while John Kollie, who did his major in Public Administration & minor in Sociology, is deceased.
