- The Liberian leader told global leaders that the 2030 Agenda is probably the most universal agenda the world has ever put together because every country, every segment of society was involved.

She argued that the 2030 Agenda contains a collective ambition to transform the world and ensure that every person lives to their fullest potential in a safe sustainable social environment.

The Liberian leader made the remarks at a High-Level reception to launch an initiative in support of the implementation of Agenda 2030 and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).
