

Highlights of the President's Daily Activities – Wednesday, February 21, 2018

- President George Weah arrived in Paris, France, following a successful State visit to Senegal; and a working visit to Morocco where he met with several partners, Moroccan Government officials and potential investors. The Liberian leader arrived in Paris on Tuesday, February 20, 2018. President Weah, upon arrival, paid a visit to Conservatoire National Arts et Métiers, a Technical University. During the visit, President Weah addressed over 400 students and authorities of the institution.
- On Wednesday, January 21, the President paid a courtesy visit on a Network of French businesses named and styled (MEDEF). The Movement des enterprise de France consists of over 750,000 members and firms; and places job-creation and sustainable growth at the heart of its action. MEDEF promotes entrepreneurship and defends free enterprise. At the meeting, the President informed the group that Liberia is opened for business and that he's encouraging French businesses to come and invest in Liberia.
- Meanwhile, President Weah was officially welcomed at the Palace de Elysee at 1pm local time by his French counterpart, President Emmanuel Macron, where he presented his agenda for development and sought France's assistance in implementing his goals.