

Call for applications for Master in Public Health (MPH), 2020-21, BRAC University

BRAC is the world's largest, leading development organization dedicated to poverty alleviation and empowerment of the poor. Initiated in Bangladesh in 1972, BRAC now operates in 11 countries across Asia, Africa and the Americas. To counter poverty and promote social empowerment, BRAC strategically integrates development programs in microfinance, agriculture, health, education, human rights and legal aid, community empowerment and more.

The BRAC James P. Grant School of Public Health is launching an international call for applications for the Master of Public Health (MPH) program for the academic year 2020-21, at the BRAC University, Dhaka, Bangladesh.

Committed and passionate candidates who are interested in transformative public health learning in a developing world country context, are invited to apply.

Application procedure

Qualified and interested applicants will find all necessary information in the attached Prospectus and may submit their application to <http://www.bracjggsph.org/index.php/mph/admission/forms>.

Application deadline for international students is 1st July 2019, and the 16th MPH batch will start on January 25, 2020.

For inquiries, please contact saifulir@brac.ac.bd